Every year at the end of academic session, the students of the college organize Akhand Path to seek the divine blessings of the Almighty for their impending exams as well as for their future lives. This practice has been carried out in this college since years and has been a small step in obliterating the narrow walls of religion, caste, creed and colour. There is gurudwara Sahib in the hostel complex of the college. The hostel students organize a three days Akhand path followed by Ardaas and Bhog. This is a practice in which all the students of the college join hands for three days in order to make this function success. The students form committees for the collection of funds. The initiatives made by all the students are lauded and given due recognition by the principal and staff. This is a big function which is totally organized and managed by students from the very first step. Fund collection and management is done by the student committees. Event management is also done by the students themselves who make sitting arrangement, sound arrangement and other such arrangements. The religious music (Shabad Gayan) is also done by students. This practice inculcates not only moral, ethical, spiritual, religious and psychological values in the students but it also trains the students in managerial skills, event management, financial management, leadership qualities etc. It also teaches them religious tolerance, oneness of all religions, community inclusiveness and sharing. This practice goes a long way in supplementing the theoretical training given to the students in the classrooms.

It not only encourages the youth to participate in the electoral process but also focuses on the fact that the right to vote is a basic right. Know about the National Voters Day history, significance, quotes, theme, and why is it celebrated in India. BEST PRACTICE

Title: Voter Awareness Day Celebration
The Context: - This practice was started with the aim to make the students feel proud of their nation and to contribute towards free and fair elections which forms the very backbone of democracy. Democracy relies on voters. But voters are either ignorant about their rights and don't cast their vote or are lured by politicians to sell their voters. This practice attempts to make the young aware at the age when they are going to exercise their constitutional rights for the first time. The alarm bell is rung at the very beginning so that they cast their vote without an eye on monetary benefit or scare of the strong.

Objective of Practice: -

- To inculcate awareness among young voters regarding casting of their votes and to encourage them to exercise their fundamental constitutional right intelligently.
- To catch them young. To awake them from their slumber and make them aware of their rights and duties as citizens of the largest democracy in the world.
- To tell them of the snares waiting for them during elections.
- To counsel them on casting their vote as a conscious and educated voter without being biased.
- To contribute towards the development of a strong demarcating nation.

The Practice: - The Voter Awareness Day is Celebrated every year in the college on 25th January in collaboration with the District Administration, Faridkot. This Practice has become a regular feature of the college and is a modest effort to arouse the collective consciousness of the students as well as people of the society so that they become conscious voters. The entire district administration of Deputy Commissioner and his team visit the college on this day. The college Principal, faculty and students create an environment to organise this function. The attendance of the students is made mandatory. The Guru Nanak Park in which the function is organised is tastefully decorated with posters and banners bearing slogans of the right to vote and the right way to vote.
